WELCOME TO THE PITSTONE GUIDE

Welcome to the second edition of the Pitstone Guide. The parish council is very proud of our rural parish, set within some of the most beautiful countryside in England and we hope you are too. We have a dynamic and growing community of approximately 3,000 residents, with lots for everyone to get involved in and plenty of opportunities for you to broaden your skills or volunteer some time.

Inside this guide, you will find details of all the local venues, clubs and associations - you will probably be surprised at the extent of activities available within our community, or just a short distance away. There are also local walks and cycle rides that will let you take in some of the breathtaking views. The parish and the surrounding area is steeped in fascinating history and there are plenty of opportunities for you to experience this. More details about our origins can be found overleaf.

We hope that the information will be particularly helpful to those joining our community but also as a handy guide for everyone to keep, full of useful contact information.

The first parish council in Pitstone was established at the end of 1894 and consisted of just five seats. Today our council is comprised of ten elected members of the village, who give their time voluntarily because they are passionate about Pitstone and enhancing the lives of those who live within it. We are there to represent you, and drive forward the initiatives that you identify as being important to our community. We welcome all your views and encourage you to attend our meetings or become involved in our committees, working parties and community groups. You are welcome to contact any member of the parish council, or our clerk, about local issues, and you will find all our contact details at the back of this guide. This is an exciting time for the community, and the parish council, as we strive to ensure the delivery of new leisure facilities and work with landowners about future development. It is important that the village develops in the way that you wish and we thank all of you that have taken the time to complete our surveys and attend our consultations. The future of your village is in the making.

Bob Saintey, Chairman of Pitstone Parish Council

PITSTONE'S HISTORY

In ancient times, herds of red deer, giant deer and oxen roamed the area. Their fossilised bones were found during excavation for cement production at Quarry 3, which is now College Lake, along with hippopotamus, rhinoceros and mammoth bones.

Evidence of a settlement in Pitstone (formerly Pightlesthorpe) dates back to as early as the 6th Century. There have been findings of Iron Age and Roman material, indicating this area was extensively inhabited. Several ancient track ways linking the Chilterns to the Vale have been found. In addition several moated sites and Scheduled Ancient Monuments have also been identified.

The village name is Anglo Saxon in origin, and means 'Picel's thorn tree'. It was recorded in the Domesday Book of 1086 as Pincelestorne. Pitstone was given to the abbey at Ashridge by the Earl of Cornwall in 1283. In 1290 King Edward I (right) spent Christmas in Pitstone at the estate that had been given to the abbey. He stayed for five weeks, during which time he held parliament in Ashridge. His stay caused great inconvenience to the local inhabitants of the village, who were legally obliged to keep the king and his court.

Pitstone was originally a farming community, including Pitstone Green Farm which is now our museum. This farm was once an important employer within the village. Farming included seasonal fruit picking such as the local plum, often known as the Aylesbury Prune, which was very popular up until the Second World War. Cereals were the most important crops (hence the windmill and old watermill and bakery located in The Mill House and Brook End Mill on the Whistlebrook and parish boundary). Although thousands of Aylesbury Ducks were fattened each year for the London market, the most important livestock was sheep. In 1866, there were 534 sheep on Pitstone Green Farm. Pitstone was also an important supplier of straw plait to the thriving hat industry in Luton, and plait schools existed in cottages where children as young as 4 were sent to learn to plait.

In the 1930's Pitstone cement works opened, which was run by The Tunnel Portland Cement Co Ltd and operated until 1991. During this time village life was dominated by the cement works, which gave work to local people. However there was a constant battle with dust and other negative environmental impacts. The site has now been demolished and has been redeveloped for housing and business use. The new housing district is named 'Castlemead' (after the Castle Cement Company who were the last operators of the site) and the business area contains numerous units, offering new opportunities for local employment.

A comprehensive illustrated history of Pitstone can be found in "Pitstone 2000". If you don't have a copy of this book, please contact the parish clerk who will be happy to supply one free-of-charge.

PITSTONE TODAY

Only a few of the buildings built before 1800 still exist. These include Sparrow Thatch and Robin Cottage in Chequers Lane, Moat Farm in Vicarage Road, Whitefriars in Old Farm, Cocksparrow Cottage on Marsworth Road and 4 thatched cottages at The Green. Over the years, many housing developments have been created, the most recent and extensive being the Castlemead estate which is shortly due to finish construction. Plans are still being formed for a new village centre which will lie around the existing recreation ground and provide a focal point for Pitstone, joining the old with the new.

We are lucky enough to live in a village where our landscape is characterised by gently undulating hills lying before the Chiltern foothills. The area is crossed by numerous streams and brooks fed by local springs. The Grand Union Canal wraps around the west and north, and you can still see extensive arable farming. In the wetter areas you will find willow trees and on the higher ground, plenty of oak and ash.

The village benefits from several employment opportunities with the introduction of the business park and several well established firms such as Safran Power UK and Colbree Engineering. Pitstone also has excellent education provision for 2-12 year olds, with Windmill Pre-School awarded “outstanding” status by OFSTED and Brookmead Primary School one of the best performing primary schools in the local area.

The early census in 1801 recorded just 275 residents. Our last census in 2011 showed that Pitstone has grown to almost 3,000 residents, one third of which are under 18 years, so we have a large young population to cater for. Our population has grown steeply over the last 10 years and although this may slow, we can expect further growth over the next 20 years.

Housing development in the parish has already funded (or part funded) many community benefits such as the extension to the Memorial Hall, cycle paths, the sports pavilion and football pitches, children’s play equipment, the provision of open space and the allotments. All your feedback at various consultation events is helping to shape the development plans for further recreational facilities that will commence with an exciting new play space, skate park and multi-use ball games court on the recreation ground and improved/expanded sports facilities at the pavilion site. So this is a very exciting time for our parish, as our future begins to unfold.

PLACES OF INTEREST TO VISIT - PITSTONE

Pitstone Green Museum, Pitstone (map ref 2)

Located in Vicarage Road, opposite the Memorial Hall. The Collection is housed in farm buildings, many of which have remained unaltered since the farm was built. Indeed many of the implements and machinery exhibited are those that were used during the working lifetime of this farm. The farm, was largely built by the Countess of Bridgewater and is unusual in that it has been occupied by the Hawkins family since 1808.

It was built on the site of earlier farms and some of the old buildings survive to this day. Most prominent of these is the Big Barn, a section of which dates from the 17th century. The museum also contains many items and photographs of people and places that are part of the history of Pitstone, Ivinghoe and the surrounding villages.

The museum is run by the Pitstone & Ivinghoe Museum Society and is open to the public on the second Sunday of the month from June to September and all Bank Holiday Mondays. There is ample free parking and refreshments are available.

On open days attractions include the Museum shop, a model railway, craft stalls, craft demonstrations, Vintage Wireless Room, saw mills, two stone mills and many rooms depicting trades and crafts from the local area.

For further details: please contact the museum manager on 01582 605464 or visit www.pitstonemuseum.co.uk.

PLACES OF INTEREST TO VISIT - PITSTONE

Pitstone Windmill, Pitstone (map ref 5)

This is one of the most imposing and important features in Pitstone. It is one of the oldest surviving post mills in the country and the whole top timber part of the windmill could turn, so the sails could face the wind. The date 1627 is carved on its framework. An 1824 map shows a road running from the present windmill car park, passing the mill, to Vicarage Road in Pitstone. In 1874, Earl Brownlow of Ashridge, bought the mill and leased it to the Hawkins family of Pitstone Green Farm.

In 1902, a violent storm caused sufficient damage to stop any further milling and make the mill uneconomic to repair. With the break-up of the Ashridge estate in the 1920's, the mill passed to the ownership of the Hawkins family in 1924. By 1937, vandalism and bad weather had necessitated heavy expenditure merely to safeguard the fabric, so the windmill was offered to the National Trust. The Trust immediately carried out a first aid operation but little further happened until the Pitstone Windmill Restoration Committee was formed in 1963. It launched an appeal for funds for material (Labour was given voluntarily) and in 1970 the committee successfully completed the restoration work to gain a "Countryside in 1970" award.

A team of volunteers now open the windmill to the public every Sunday afternoon during June, July and August. The car park can be accessed on the B488 Upper Icknield Way and there are a variety of footpaths that lead to the windmill from the village.

PLACES OF INTEREST TO VISIT - IVINGHOE

Ford End Watermill, Ivinghoe (map ref 6)

This lovely little watermill has records that date back to 1616 but is certainly very much older and was in use up until 1963.

Restored by volunteers and maintained and run by Ford End Watermill Society, it is the only remaining working watermill in Buckinghamshire with original machinery. It retains all the atmosphere of a small farm mill of the late 1800's.

An unusual feature is a sheep-wash in the stream below the mill, washing made the fleece easier to shear and increased it's value.

Stone-ground wholemeal flour is on sale during milling demonstrations.

Schools and other parties are very welcome. To make an appointment please telephone Mrs Jill Graves on 01296 660074.

The watermill is open on certain Sundays and Bank Holidays between Easter and the end of September and can be found approx 600 metres from Ivinghoe Church along Station Road (the B488 towards Leighton Buzzard). Ample free parking.

For further details: please call the Mill Manager, Chris Tugby on 01442 825421 or email millman@fordendwatermill.co.uk or visit their web site to check opening times at www.fordendwatermill.co.uk

CHURCHES AND CHURCH SERVICES

St Mary's Church, Pitstone (map ref 9)

Newcomers to the villages of Ivinghoe and Pitstone may not be aware of this gem standing out between Pitstone's Vicarage Road and the new Castlemead development.

When the two parochial parishes were combined in 1974 its historical significance was appreciated and its future secured by being vested in the Churches Conservation Trust, with a local committee to look after the day to day administration.

The earliest parts of the church, the chancel and north chapel, date back to 1250 and some carved fragments of stone from the 12th century indicate that it may have been built on the site of an earlier church. You should particularly look out for the Norman font, the unique brass (probably depicting Lady Neyrnut) and the ancient wooden chest and sanctuary chair. Notice the Medieval floor tiles and the wall painting, dating from the early seventeenth century.

Limited car parking in Church Road, Pitstone.

CHURCHES AND CHURCH SERVICES

St Mary the Virgin Church, Ivinghoe (map ref 10)

More than thirty generations have looked up to the great church built on a rise beside the lower Icknield Way, its three storey tower now crowned with a flèche which they have dubbed a Hertfordshire spike.

On the evidence of the stiff leaf decoration of the capitals of the nave pillars the building dates from 1220, its west wall incorporating part of an earlier church. (if this is so the church survived the torches of Richard Siward and his thugs who set fire to the village on the 9th May 1234 to spite its patron, the Bishop of Winchester.)

Henry III rewarded Peter de Chaceport with the living of Ivinghoe in 1241 and it is he who is honoured as the builder of the church. The effigy of a Norman in priestly robes once described as the 'best bit of sharpening stone in Buckinghamshire' and now in the chancel is considered to be of Peter, placed there by the Bonhommes of Ashridge. In the chancel there are several brasses to remind us of the sheep farmers of the district. Part of one tomb lies beneath the west wall indicating the shortening of the church by a few feet. In their time the walls of the nave were raised for the insertion of a clerestory. Parts of the original rose windows can be seen in the walls today. The nave arches show evidence of the rood screen (which once divided the church and it can be seen that the door leading to it from the tower stair has been filled in.) Queen Elizabeth I had its images removed and in her time pews were provided. Their ends are there today, the Ivinghoe 'poppy heads' with carvings of witches, knights and the well known mermaid.

BIOGRAPHIES OF FAMOUS RESIDENTS

The following biographies first appeared in PPP and are repeated in the guide to continue to inspire us all.

Butch Baker - Musician

Butch Baker born 16th July 1941 moved to Pitstone at the age of 2 weeks. The family lived at 4 The Crescent during his rise to fame. The Knights of the Round Table were formed in 1959 by Barron Anthony (Anthony Osmond) after he bought himself out of the RAF, all the original members came from the Leighton Buzzard area where the Barron had been stationed. This was at a time when Rock had only begun to Roll and the Hit Parade was not yet a teenager. The likes of Billy Fury, Marty Wilde, Adam Faith and Cliff Richard were putting the fizz into pop music, and Tommy Steele was running amok with 'A Little White Bull'.

In 1960, aged 18, Butch, gave up his day job and became a professional guitarist. On the 5th October, that year, The Knights got up from the roundtable and were promoted to Barrons. They spent their early career as a straight pop group touring and playing in English dance halls before making their way to Hamburg in Germany. Butch joined the band in 1962 replacing Jud Hopkins at the invitation of Barron Anthony and Pete Langford..

The first vein of gold was mined in 1963 when asked by Brian Epstein, 'The Barron Knights', as they were now called, appeared as a support act for 'The Beatles' Christmas Shows at the Finsbury Park Astoria in London. Chart success, came the following year (1964), with 'Call Up the Groups' a medley of parodies, of the pop music, in and around the charts at the time. "Call Up the Groups" found its way to number 3 in the charts, a feat that demanded their debut appearance on Top of the Pops and saw them flown in specially, by the BBC, from the Channel Islands where they were appearing. A flight which was Butch's first time in the air waves and not on them.

Together with Peter Langford (P'nut) Butch was responsible for writing a lot of material for the group and the style of comedy he brought to the group saw him compared with the great Tommy Cooper. Butch credits his father, Maurice with beginning his musical career. "....He taught me to play the banjo when I was eight or nine and then I got a classical guitar, put steel string on it and played that." (Huddersfield Daily Examiner Feb. 4th 2005). Butch's first public performance was at Marsworth Village Hall, in a duet with his dad on banjos, aged around eleven. In 1967 the group released the single "Lazy Fat People", a satirical song penned by Pete Townshend of 'The Who'.

'The Barron Knights' climbed the charts with four other hits in the 1960's and 1970's. They went on to great success on the cabaret circuit all round the world and toured for over 47 years before Butch announced his retirement at the Deragate, Northampton on the 27th January 2007. Sharing the bill that night were 'The Fortunes', 'The Tremeloes', and 'Marmalade'.

Gerry Marshall - Motor Racing Legend

Gerry Marshall, saloon car racing driver (born November 16 1941 died April 21 2005) first lived at Thespians Orchard in Chequers Lane later moving to 3 Morton Close. According to a 2002 magazine poll he was considered, by many, to be amongst the best British saloon car racing drivers of all time. His first win was in 1964 at the wheel of a Mini. His 600th win coming in 2000 at Snetterton driving an Aston Martin DB4.

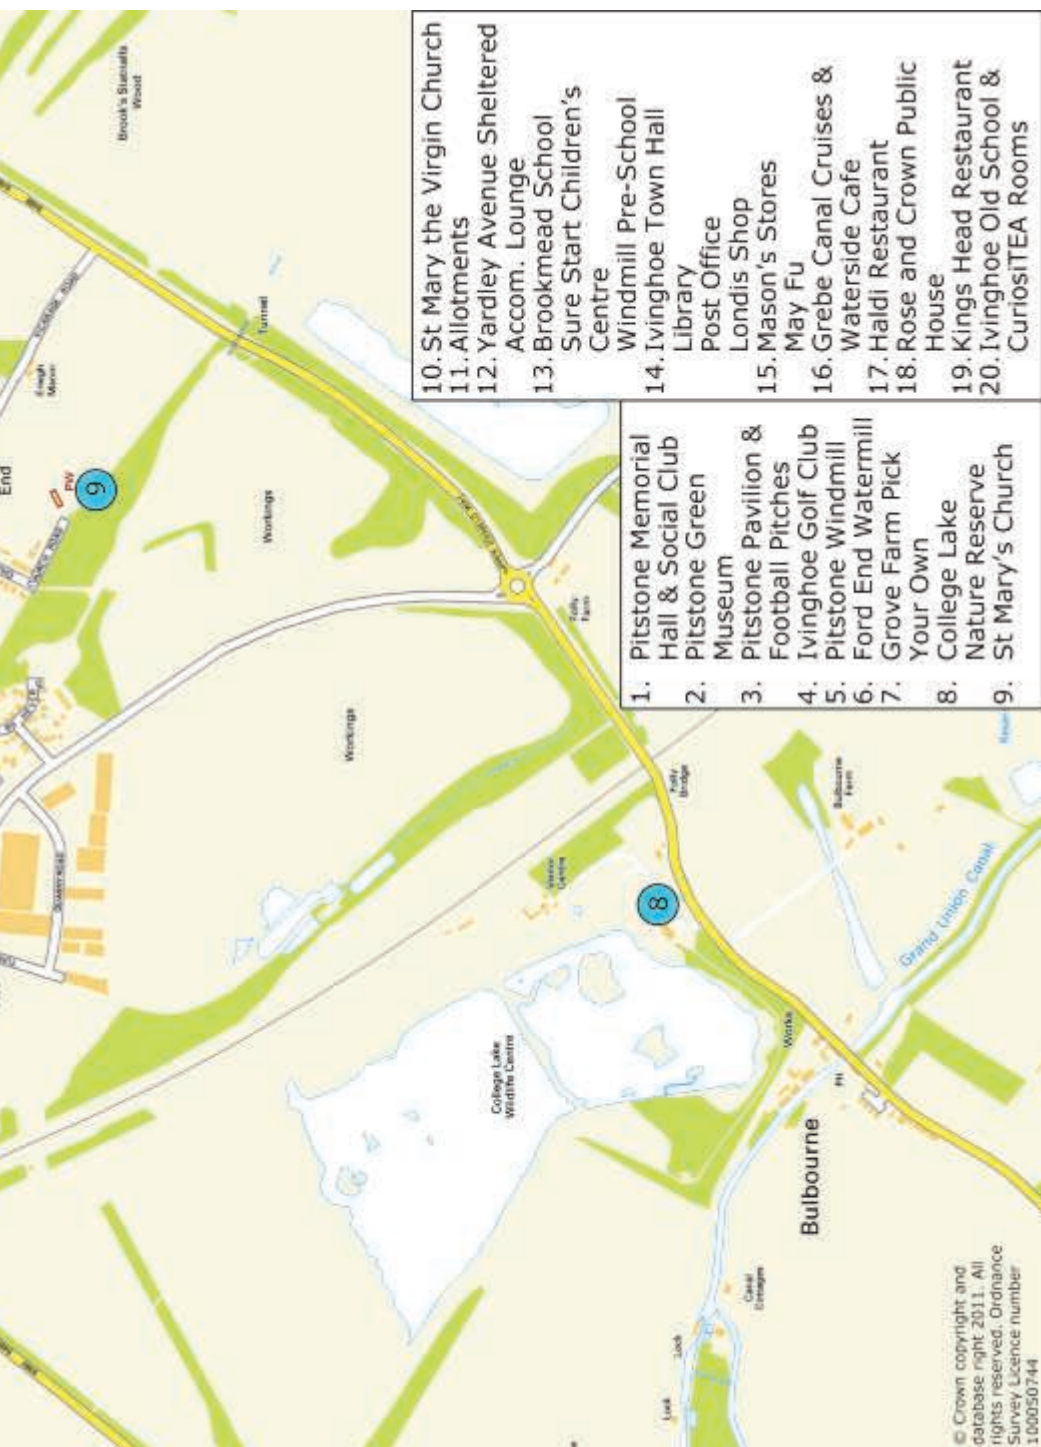

In 1971, he won the Escort Mexico championship, beating future Formula 1 World Champion Jody Scheckter. 1972, saw him win the final race meeting to be held at Crystal Palace, this was an Historic Sports Car race, where he drove a Lister Jaguar. In 1974 driving for the same team as rally driver Roger Clark he finished 2nd in the Avon Tour of Britain. In the 70's Gerry drove for Dealer Team Vauxhall. During this time he was often on BBC TV's Grandstand, at a time when Murray Walker was cutting his teeth on a unique style of commentary. For Vauxhall's he drove what became the legendary Super saloon Vauxhalls, Big Bertha (Ventora), Baby Bertha (Firenza) and Old Nail (the first ever production and race Firenza). The V8 powered Bertha's were prepared by another legend Bill Blydenstein. 'They were the most dramatic things imaginable, especially with Gerry - extrovert, sideways, Mr. Car Control - at the wheel. That's when Marshall really caught the imagination of racegoers.' (Mark Hughes, Motorsport, May 2005). The Firenza and Magnum were variants of Vauxhall's HC Viva.

'Marshall's style has been described as "sideways, on-the-edge cornering that was to distinguish his driving in any car, large or small, front or rear drive." This outward appearance belied an extraordinary cool-headed ability and intelligence behind the wheel. His biography, published in 1978, was titled Only Here for the Beer and a tribute edition was reissued shortly after his untimely death.' (Wikipedia 13/03/2008)

Among the highs of 1979 was the formation of Gerry Marshall Racing, which saw him begin preparing cars for other people. However saloon car racing was not without it's perils. The low point came at a race at Silverstone that saw Gerry crash at over 100 mph. The force of the accident caused his helmet to come off (still intact and fastened) and broke the mountings of his seat which meant that he was thrown around the inside of the vehicle like a rag doll. Despite serious injuries, some of which affected him for the rest of his life he was out of hospital, in ten days, and winning races before the end of the season.

'A supremely popular and larger than life character. Gerry was awarded the British Automobile Racing Club Gold Medal in recognition of his outstanding contribution to sport - one of only 34 people to have been accorded that honour.

He died of a heart related illness...doing what he loved - driving a Chevrolet Camaro (the ex-Richard Petty's car) at Silverstone. He slid into the gravel and stopped in front of the British Racing Driver's Club - of which he had been a leading member for years - with Gerry never losing control of the car' (GM Mirror May 2005). Mark Hughes of Motorsport wrote of Gerry "...he was a big old emotional softie underneath it all, and sometimes generous to a fault.....As legends go, they don't come any bigger." BIOGRAPHIES OF FAMOUS RESIDENTS

Robert Holmes - Script Editor 'Doctor Who'

Robert Colin Holmes (2nd April 1926 - 24 May 1986) lived at 'The White House' 65 Marsworth Road in the swinging sixties and 1970's with his wife, son Nicholas and daughter Lorraine. He distinguished himself early in life by being the youngest ever commissioned officer in the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, serving in Burma. Back in 'civvy' street he joined the police and passed out top of his year at Hendon Police College. Later he became a court reporter and journalist. Working as a sports reporter, found him, in the Midlands where he became the final editor of "The John Bull Magazine". It was at this time, during the 1950's, that he began submitting material to Granada television for their series "Knight Errant".

He worked as a Script Editor on Doctor Who between 1974 and 1977 and had previously submitted scripts. His tenure saw, come and go, 6 Producers, 5 Doctors, 11 assistants to the doctor (4 of whom he introduced) over a period of 18 seasons. His total of 18 scripts which included 4 based on stories by other writers or co-written, again put him top of his class, with, only, Terry Nation contributing a count of more than 9.

After 1979, Robert Holmes moved away from Doctor Who to concentrate on other projects mainly within the science fiction genre. Returning in 1984 he wrote the script that saw Peter Davison metamorphose into Colin Baker. After Colin Baker's first season, work on a draft script for the next season and plans to bring him back as Script Editor were undone by his untimely death after a short illness.

Robert Holmes is widely acknowledged as having had the biggest influence, as a Script Editor, on the success of "Doctor Who". A poll, in the 80's, among the reader's of the fanzine "DWB" gave him 74% of the votes as the readers favourite. Second place went to Terrance Dicks, with 4% of votes.

"I am not a fan of Sherlock Holmes but I am a fan of that fictitious Victorian period, with fog, gas lamps, Hansom cabs and music halls. We look back on it and say that's what it was like, although of course it wasn't - people were slaving in dark, satanic mills and starving in London gutters." Robert Holmes. It is possible to say that his career ended as it began top of his class. (Information for this article was taken from Internet sources)

John and Roy Boulting - Film Makers

The Pitstone census of 1939 shows the following entry about the parents of our subjects :
RE122 1939 Boulting, Roy Alfred and Marian Angela, The Green

John and Roy Boulting born in that order on the 21 November 1913, at Bray Berkshire, were identical twins, born five minutes apart, whose career in film making started at public school where they formed a film society. As a partnership they established Charter Films in 1937 as their own independent production company. Their first success, which labelled them as "earnest evangelicals", came with the films, Pastor Hall (1940) inspired by the persecution of Pastor Niemoller, the first feature film to expose the horror of the Nazi concentration camps and Thunder Rock (1942), steeped in symbolism, which saw a journalist (Michael Redgrave) so disillusioned by Europe's apathetic response to the rise of fascism in the 1930's that he takes a job as a lighthouse keeper on Lake Michigan where he is confronted by the ghosts of immigrants from a boat which sank 100 years before. The doomed ship represented Europe heading for disaster.

During the Spanish Civil War John volunteered as an ambulance driver as part of the International Brigade, on the front line. Later WW2 service saw the brothers separated again with John in the RAF and Roy a captain in the army.

In the 1940's they were a breath of fresh air to the British film industry, spinning it off its axis in the same way that the Beatles affected the music industry twenty years later. Their earlier films made use of locations in the area, where they lived, a trend which continues today, next time you watch the Birthday Girl starring Nicole Kidman watch out for a guest appearance by Pitstone Windmill. Among Roy's credits is the film Inquest (1940) which features scenes of a cricket match at the recreation ground at a time when the site of the Tunnel Cement Works was less than three years old and the cross-roads marked the Lower Icknield Way rather than a modern day roundabout. After the war they concentrated on a series of films that reflected the uniqueness of the British character and illustrated the way of life recovering from the 2nd World War. The 1940's were illuminated by Fame Is The Spur (1946) and Brighton Rock (1947), written by Graham Greene, Berkhamstead's famous son and starring Richard Attenborough (as the gangster Pinkie Brown). In the 1950's Seven Days To Noon shone the light on social paranoia. The 1950's were marked out by a number of films concentrating on a theme of social observation. Peter Sellers, Ian Carmichael and Terry Thomas featured in some of their best remembered satires. The brothers were always political but their voice could only be heard in the form of comedies, where they found it possible to raise the finance.

The army life of Stanley in Privates Progress (1956) followed him in the film I'm All Right Jack (1959) onto the factory floor which was an observation on the workings of trade unionism which so offended the trade unions that the Association of Cine Technicians were moved to start a five year legal battle with the brothers for the non-payment of union dues. Their defence on what was seen as attacks on the establishment was that they were standing up for the individuals rights versus the twin threat of big business and organised labour. By lampooning all forms of established society, the legal system in the film Brothers In Law, the Church in Heavens Above and the civil service in Carlton Brown Of The FO the brothers opinion was that no particular body could take special offence as they had all been touched.

"When we started we made low-budget films with a high mind. They earned us wonderful notices, many letters from earnest film lovers, and the deep suspicion of the film industry"

During their careers they mainly worked together swapping the roles of producer and director on different projects. John's last film, as a director, was 1966's Rotten to the Core. He continued until the early 1970's to work as a producer and as Managing Director of British Lion. His brother Roy directed up until 1985 when he worked on two episodes of the BBC Miss Marple Series. Together they made over sixty films. Sir Richard Attenborough said of them "John and Roy were two of the most original and courageous of British film-makers. They fought passionately for creative freedom and rejected any finance which sought to deny it. They cared deeply about the content of their films which epitomized their own convictions. They gave me my first opportunities as an actor in the cinema in Brighton Rock and The Guinea Pig...". John died on June 17, 1985, in Sunningdale, Berkshire and Roy on November 5, 2001. WALKS

A safer Way to Walk to The Grand Junction Arms

About 2 ½ miles to the pub with another 3 if you extend the walk right round to the swing bridge and back to Pitstone that way.

Starting from the Memorial Hall go out of the car park and turn right into Vicarage Road. Continue up the road until you turn right into Church Road. Keep straight along Church Road and onto the public footpath across the quarry. When you get to Westfield Road keep left to the roundabout. Go across the roundabout and a few yards up Northfield Road till you come to a stile on your left. (For those who cannot manage stiles there is a gap in the hedge a little further up.)

Continue along this footpath until it veers to the left to go up the hill. At this point you will find a gate into Northfield Road on your right. There is a footpath here along the verge which makes this safer. Taking care cross the road at the entrance to Park Hill Farm. Continue down the drive through the farm and the wide gate. Cross the bridge over the railway and past two more houses on a metalled road. This road goes towards Tring. Follow it only until you come to the canal. If you continued you would come out by Grove Road School.

Take the towpath the other side of the bridge to the right which can be wet in winter. This will lead you along the Tring summit to the Grand Junction Arms. You can also visit the garden centre further up the road past the pub.

On the way back this walk can be varied in three ways.

1. About 200 yards back along the towpath there is footpath signed up to the right. This goes along the field edge to the road and is drier in winter.
2. When you cross the canal bridge at the end of the summit, instead of continuing up the road take a footpath to the left which is clearly marked. It goes around the chicken farm (Chickens are all protected by electric fencing) and diagonally across a field to the railway which it follows to the bridge on the B488. Here care needs to be taken in crossing the bridge and following the road up to the roundabout though most of the verge is well trodden. Here it is possible to cross a low stile to your left and follow the extension of the footpath which comes out further down Westfield Road. Here you cross the road and follow the original route back to the Memorial Hall.

3. It is of course possible to complete the circuit by continuing along the towpath of the Grand Union through Marsworth passing the Bluebell Cafe, Angler's retreat and the Red Lion (now closed). If you chose this route you can leave the canal at Cook's Wharf and turn left down Cheddington Road which will take you back to the Memorial Hall.

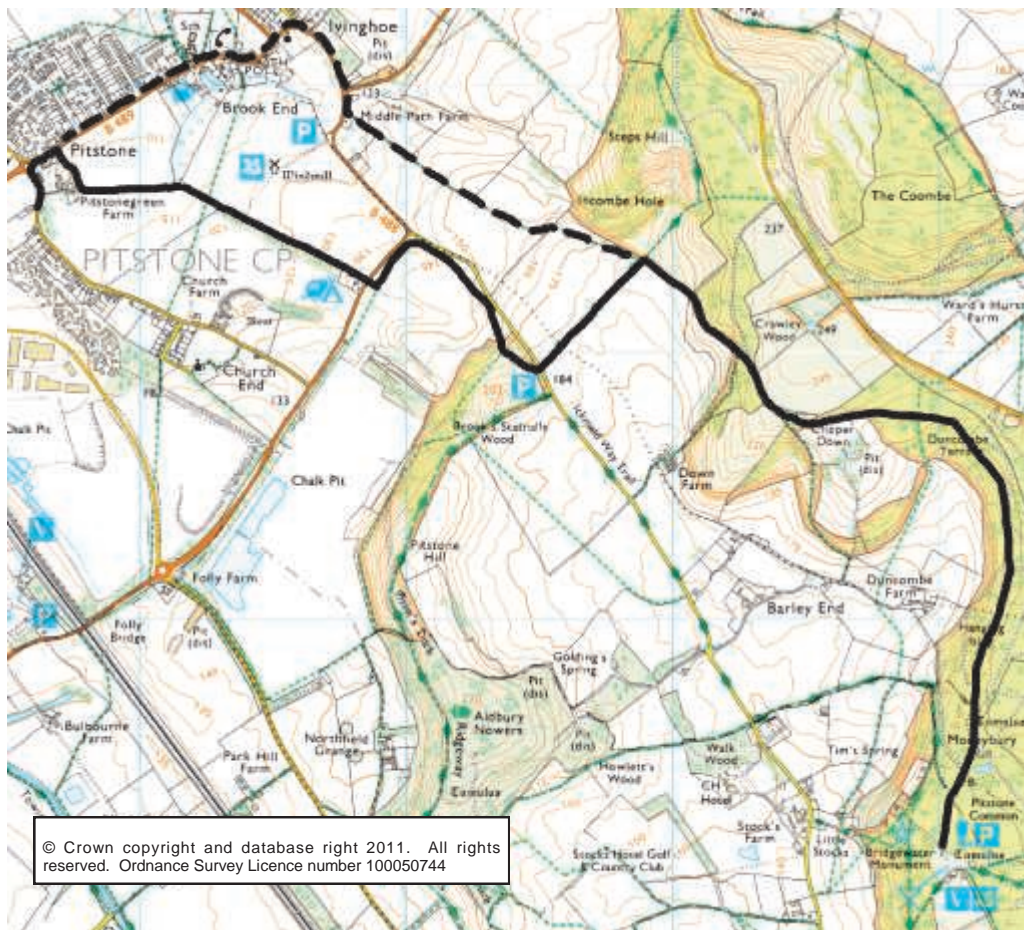

Walk to the monument.

Just under 4 miles with a fair amount of uphill.

*Starting from the Memorial Hall car park go to the roundabout and turn right up Marsworth Road into the village. After about 200 yards take the smaller gate on your right into the permissive footpath surrounding the allotments. Do not enter the allotment site. Follow this path round till you come to the farm track. Turn left and follow the track straight till you reach the B488 by the Silver Birch. Beware that this path can be muddy in parts in the winter.

1. Cross the B488 taking great care. This is the safest place to cross the road. Cross the field on the permissive footpath. Go through the hole in the hedge and turn left onto Footpath 7.
2. Continue on the footpath over a stile, across the field entrance and round to your right parallel with Stocks Road to climb the hill.
3. When you go through the gate at the top of the footpath keep walking up the hill past the Anglian Water inspection field to Pitstone Hill car park
4. Cross the road at this point and continue along the wide track beside the field until you come to the corner with a crossroads signpost.
5. Go right along the side of the field till you come to a post in the path.
6. Keep to the left hand path up the hill unless it is very muddy when it is possible to divert up the grass.

WALKS

7. Keep going up till you come to a gate. Go through the gate and take the diagonal path up continuing in the same direction.
8. You will come out onto a potholed gravel track. Bear right and continue till you come to the Kennels. Follow the made up track along the boundary. This is the beginning of the wide track which is easy walking to the monument still some distance away.

It is also possible to start this walk by going through Ivinghoe across the T junction of the B488 and 489 and through the gate up middle path about 200 yards further along. Rejoin the walk at point 5

Pitstone Hill Walk

This walk is about 3.5 miles long. An easy stretch for a Sunday afternoon.

4. Continue on this footpath over a stile, across the field entrance and round to your right parallel with Stocks Road and continue up the hill.
5. When you reach the top of this path go through the gate and turn right. Follow the wide path till you reach the well trodden path coming down from the top of the hill (Picadilly). Turn right here and climb up to the highest point. On your way note the overgrown copse on your right. This is the AA wood planted in the 50's by members of the AA with neither permission or plan for maintenance. Also note a dug out pocket beside the path to your right. This is the Pitstone home guard gun emplacement from World War II.

6. Admire the view from the highest point including All Saints, Leighton Buzzard to your right and County Council building in Aylesbury to your left.

7. When you reach a post with blue arrow bear right and follow the path downwards till you reach the gate into Aldbury Nowers. Do not go through the gate.
8. Turn down the hill which is quite steep at this point. Go straight on through the gate onto the footpath going down the side of the quarry. After you have been through the metal barrier at the bottom turn right to walk on a footpath parallel with the road.
9. At the end cross onto the road near the roundabout. Take care here and make your way across the roundabout and along Westfield Road.
10. Follow the Footpath sign across the quarry (above left) to Church Road. At the end of Church Road turn left and follow Vicarage Road back to the Memorial Hall.

EASY CYCLE ROUTES

Three nice and easy cycle routes to tempt you back into the saddle!

Route 1—Lots of places to stop, not too taxing, no hills and not too far!

1. Start at the roundabout at the crossroads.
2. Head along Cheddington Road towards Cheddington and turn right after railway bridge.
3. Go through Cheddington to the double roundabout where you turn left and go along the Long Marston Road, past the airfield.
4. At the Queens Head turn left and go through Gubblecote, taking the left fork at the bend.
5. Continue along this road, past the old Deans egg depot and the old airfield entrance to the Red Lion Bridge at Marsworth.
6. Continue over the bridge and up to the road junction where you turn left by the village hall and head off up the hill to Pitstone.

Route 2—lovely views from Pitstone Hill!

1. Cycle through Castlemead, using the cycle paths, up to the roundabout at Folly Farm.
2. Go straight over the roundabout, along Northfield Road until you get to the junction.
3. Turn Left and head towards Aldbury and then left again by the duck pond.
4. Cycle away from the village, past Stocks and head towards Pitstone Hill Car Park. We'd recommend you stop for a while at the hill to enjoy the view and have a well earned rest.
5. Continue down the hill towards Ivinghoe.
6. There is a nasty junction at the bottom, so take care when you turn right into Ivinghoe and then continue round into Pitstone.

EASY CYCLE ROUTES

Route 3—A slightly longer ride, but no hills!

1. Start at the roundabout at the crossroads.
2. Head along Cheddington Road towards Cheddington and turn right after railway bridge.
3. Go through Cheddington to the double roundabout where you turn left and go along the Long Marston Road, past the airfield.
4. At the Queens Head go straight across (into Astrope Lane), towards Puttenham.
5. Take the next left turn down Watery Lane.
6. At the end turn right, go over the canal bridge (Tea Ride Tip:- stick your hand in the air if you can as go up so cars coming towards you can see you!) and follow the road round into Wilstone village.
7. Go through Wilstone village and turn left at the end, opposite PE Mead Farm Shop - great for a cuppa & a piece of cake!
8. Very carefully, take the next right towards Little Tring - on the tight left hand bend.
9. Take the next left, Wiggles Lane and then right at the end, towards New Mill & Tring, going past Heygates to the Marmalade Cat Nursery roundabout.
10. Go straight over the roundabout and take the next left at the Pheasant pub, into Grove Road.
11. All the way to the end and left, where you can get on the cycle path, all the way to Tring station.
12. Go past the station then turn left up Northfield Road.
13. Go straight over the next roundabout along Westfield Road, towards Pitstone Green & Castlemead.
14. Turn right at the end and you will find yourself back at Pitstone Green roundabout.

These are just a few suggestions. However the Velos T-riders leave the Rose and Crown on a Saturday morning at about 10.00 am, going at the speed of the slowest rider and stopping for tea and cake on the way. Come and join us, we cycle as a group making sure that no one gets left behind and end up at the Rose & Crown for more refreshments at about 12.00 -12.30.

VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITIES

Pitstone Parish Council is often made aware of local projects and community groups that would welcome your time and involvement. We also receive calls from residents that would like to volunteer but don't know what opportunities exist. So, we have set up a database of opportunities.

If you only have an hour or two a month, or have plenty of time on your hands, there is bound to be a role to suit you! If you are a community group that would like some extra support, please do get in touch and we will add your details to the database.

Beacon Villages Community Library

Do you use the library? The library is looking for people to assist at the library to extend and enhance the opening times. Please call into the library to find out more details.

Community Car Scheme

Some residents have great difficulty getting to their hospital or healthcare appointments, especially when they are in another local town. If you would be willing to drive someone there in your own car (petrol and car parking expenses will be paid) and wait with them, then volunteering to join the community car scheme could be right for you. For further information, please contact Klaus Ginda on 01296 668911.

Memorial Hall Management Committee

Did you know that Pitstone Memorial Hall is run by a voluntary committee? It is also a registered charity. Without this team of dedicated people there would be nowhere for you to hold your parties or attend keep-fit sessions. The committee would love to hear from you! Please contact the secretary to the Hall Committee on memorialhall@pitstone.co.uk.

Pitstone Church

The church is looking for volunteers to man the church from 2.30-5.30pm on Sunday afternoons and Bank Holidays from May to September. It is a very pleasant afternoon in lovely surroundings and support is provided. Please pop along to one of the open afternoons and speak to the volunteers on site.

The church committee would also love to hear from you if you could help organise and volunteer at the Annual Festival of Art and Flowers. This treasured tradition is in danger of coming to a close if more support cannot be found to help with the event in future years.

Please contact Jean Booth on jean.g.booth@btinternet.com.

VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITIES

Pitstone Green Museum

The village is very fortunate to have such a fascinating museum on its doorstep. The museum is housed in the farm buildings which date back to 1831 and provide a window on rural life with many interesting displays and artefacts. The museum is completely run by volunteers. It is open on every Bank Holiday Monday, plus the second Sundays in June, July, August and September. They would particularly love to hear from anyone with DIY or restoration skills; anyone that would be willing to help serve refreshments at the open days or anyone with a passion to preserve our history that would like to lend a hand setting up displays etc. The museum manager is waiting for your call on 01582 605464.

Pitstone Parish Post (PPP)

Hopefully everyone is very familiar with the quarterly village magazine published by Pitstone Parish Council and delivered to every home in the parish free-of-charge. PPP would not reach your door without the sterling efforts of a band of distributors, each of whom posts between 16 and 70 magazines four times per year. "Many hands make light work" as the saying goes, and we always welcome more distributors into the team. If you could deliver a few magazines down your road please contact Klaus Ginda on 01296 668911 or Klausginda@btinternet.com.

If you fancy yourself as a roving reporter, the next David Bailey or would like to turn your hand to a spot of editing, then the PPP Editor is always looking for extra hands to help write articles, prepare and write PPP. pppeditor@pitstone.co.uk.

Pitstone Windmill

Are you interested in local history? Pitstone Windmill is one of the earliest surviving post mills in the UK and it has been looked after by the National Trust since 1937. They are looking for volunteers to sell admission tickets and welcome visitors to the windmill on Sundays and Bank Holidays from June to August, 2.30 - 6pm. If this is something you might be interested in we would love to hear from you. Please contact the Visitor Centre at ashridge@nationaltrust.org.uk or 01442 851227.

Youth Café

Would you be willing to help the 11-16 year olds at the Youth Café? Could you offer them guidance, serve refreshments, join in the Wii challenge, teach a skill or help with community related projects? Whatever your age or your skills, this may be the opportunity for you. As you will be in close contact with children, we will need to conduct a DBS check on all volunteers. If you would like to know more, please contact Mrs Laurie Eagling, Clerk to Pitstone Parish Council on 01296 660791 or parishclerk@pitstone.co.uk

PITSTONE PARISH COUNCIL SERVICES AND KEY PROJECTS

The Parish Council

The council's work falls into three main categories:

- * Representing the local community
- * Delivering services to meet local needs and
- * Striving to improve the quality of life in the parish

We provide and maintain services such as: Allotments, Children's Play Areas, Youth Café, Pitstone pavilion and football pitches, Street lighting, Bus shelters, Seating, Litter and dog fouling collection and Grants to local community groups.

Major Projects

The creation of the Castlemead estate released some funds to AVDC towards leisure provision. We hope this will enable an upgrade of the recreation ground facilities including a new, challenging and exciting play space on the recreation ground; a concrete skate park and a multi-use ball games court.

Over at the sports pavilion, the council is seeking to expand the range of sports and leisure that can be played there as well as improving the current facilities for football to bring the site up to the standard required by the leagues.

The parish council seeks improved infrastructure including commissioning a report from Ben Hamilton-Baillie which we are now working with Bucks County Council on feasibility scoping. Both Pitstone and Marsworth Parish Councils have been working for many years towards the installation of a footpath between the two villages, and thanks to a joint New Homes Bonus Grant, this may finally come to fruition by the end of 2017. We also work with Herts County Council towards delivering a cycle path to Tring station.

We seek to implement the wishes the community defined within the Pitstone Neighbourhood Development Plan, available on our web site.
