

The legal boundary runs along the edge of the tarmac access strip, in a straight line, all the way to the rear of the site. The series of photos below, show the 'scrub' ground to be cleared to enable the fence to move to the boundary.

The legal boundary runs along the edge of the tarmac access strip, in a straight line, all the way to the rear of the site. The series of photos below, show the 'scrub' ground to be cleared to enable the fence to move to the boundary.

The legal boundary runs along the edge of the tarmac access strip, in a straight line, all the way to the rear of the site. The series of photos below, show the 'scrub' ground to be cleared to enable the fence to move to the boundary.

