“Hope is an ever winding road that we must travel...”

These are the words of a new work written specially for the choir by John Cameron to conclude our concert celebrating the world in which we live, and examining the effects of global warming. Using music, both familiar and new, interwoven with texts performed by The Slapton Players, our latest concert will entertain as well as challenge as we face one of civilisation’s greatest threats.

The concerts will be followed by the launch of a short film commissioned by the Chalk, Cherries and Chairs Landscape Partnership scheme which is hosted by Chilterns National Landscape. The scheme connects local people to their landscape and the film features the choir singing Beacon, from Beacon – A Celebration by John Cameron.
